F. PERSONAL/AUDIENCE COMMENTS.

Jane McNeel, 5112 Locust Street, Bellaire, Texas, addressed City Council regarding the possible purchase of the property currently for sale at 5119 Jessamine Street, adjacent to the Bellaire Library. She felt it would be a wise purchase for the City for several reasons.

First, although the Bellaire Library had undergone a recent renovation, eventually a new library would be needed. Just as previous City Councils had the foresight to purchase lots along the 5100 block of Laurel, which now encompassed Loftin Park, this was a one-time opportunity to ensure the possible future expansion of the Bellaire Library on that site.

After the recent Bellaire Library renovation, Ms. McNeel was not suggesting an expansion of the library in the foreseeable future; however, the current building was constructed 50 years ago in 1962, with a two-story addition in 1974. Advances in technology, coupled with high library usage, would eventually provide a need for more space. A future addition would surely be less costly than construction of a new building.

As to the high volume of library visitors, Ms. McNeel provided members of City Council with some statistics for library usage as to circulation, number of requests for reference assistance, and number of participants for various programs.

A second reason for acquisition of the referenced lot was additional parking. The lot dimensions were 61 feet wide and 127 ½ feet deep. Ms. McNeel indicated that she believed the lot width would provide as many as six perpendicular parking spaces. With the activities of the baseball field across the street, the court activities at the Police Station, and the high volume of visitors to the library, an additional six parking spaces would be wonderful.

In addition, the Jessamine side of the Town Center could stand some beautification. Her personal preference for the referenced lot would be some parking spaces across the front and to let the rest of the property provide a quiet, shady area for residents to relax and/or enjoy a lunch break.

Regardless, unless the City purchased the lot, it would surely be sold for new construction and any future opportunity to expand the library in its current location would be lost. Ms. McNeel asked City Council to make the choice now for future improvements.

John Monday, 7807 South Rice Avenue, Bellaire, Texas, addressed City Council and advised that he understood that the property adjacent to the Bellaire Library was on the market. He and his wife were in support of using taxpayer dollars to acquire the property for a future use. It would be unfortunate to let an opportunity like this to slip away without full consideration and comment from citizens.

One of the many reasons for acquisition was that Bellaire had meager buffers in the block between City facilities and residents. The City could actually afford to do better. Buffer zones were of high importance to landlocked communities and should be fully examined at each opportunity.

In the meantime and until the property were incorporated into an actual plan, consideration could be given to utilizing the space for City offices or the library or, perhaps, a City employee looking for affordable housing at a reasonable rate that could help subsidize the acquisition of the property.

Mr. Monday closed and stated that he hoped one of the members of City Council would make a motion this evening to make an offer on the property. The circumstances required City Council to act swiftly.

Jo Monday, 7807 South Rice Avenue, Bellaire, Texas, addressed City Council and stated that she was present to recommend that the City go forward with the purchase of the property that was for sale adjacent to the Bellaire Library for future City use. She had been a librarian for HISD for 28 years, and she did not think the City should let this opportunity escape us.
The City had very few options to expand its Civic Center property and the City should not let this option pass us by. Ms. Monday was disappointed that this simple transaction was not being discussed publicly, but only in executive session. The City Council and the Mayor needed to know that there were many citizens that supported and used the Bellaire Library.

Peggy Shallock, 2 Pembrook Court, Bellaire, Texas, addressed City Council and advised that she, too, wished to speak to the potential purchase of the property adjacent to the Bellaire Library. She felt it would be in the best interest of the City to purchase the referenced lot for the future. She was one of thousands who had enjoyed and benefited from the Bellaire Library over the 60 years of service to the community. Bellaire was the sought after community it was because of the excellent schools demanded by a populace that valued education. These families understood how the library played a part in encouraging curiosity, learning, and future success of their children.

Ms. Shallock ventured to bet that the library was one of the most used facilities in the City. Last year, 4,300 attended the summer programs offered, and over 1,000 children and teens registered for the summer reading program. Almost 9,000 young children attended story time.

It was noted that book stacks were getting closer together and many treasures had been weeded out due to the lack of space on shelves. Story times were packed, and the computers and ports for laptops were always utilized. The recent, nice renovations to the Bellaire Library had helped; however, the limited space put a cramp on things. As technology changed so rapidly, the Bellaire Library needed to continue to change to meet the needs of the community. Space was needed to add technology, new books, and to accommodate the patrons that frequented the library with ample reading areas.

Purchasing the lot would allow the City to plan for any future addition to the library. She was sure that anything that was done would be done with respect to the neighbors who lived adjacent to the property. Ms. Shallock felt that this was a win-win situation to add the property that extended the City services footprint.

Kristin Schuster, 4610 Birch Street, Bellaire, Texas, addressed City Council and stated that she wished to speak on two topics. As a citizen of Bellaire and a member of the Sunset Review Committee, she wished to encourage City Council to take up for consideration the items put forth in the Sunset Review Committee ("Committee") report, indicating that she would love to see something positive come from the time and energy the members of the Committee put into those recommendations and the report.

Secondly, Ms. Schuster advised that it was not easy to be discreet when honoring the Texas Open Meetings Act, but the Building and Standards Commission ("Commission") had made an attempt to do so. She and her six fellow Commissioners wished to publicly express their gratitude to their Council Liaison. She indicated that she was present to express their corrective thanks solo simply because a "Notice of Possible Quorum" would ruin the surprise. Councilman Andrew S. Friedberg had consistently gone beyond what could be expected from a liaison. The Commission had benefitted greatly from his interest in their work and from his great advice. The Commission took advantage of a very rare instance when Councilman Friedberg was late to one of their meetings and all signed a card. The card inscribed by each member of the Commission was a token of their gratitude for the work Councilman Friedberg continued to do for the Commission and the City.

Lynn McBee, 5314 Evergreen Street, Bellaire, Texas, addressed City Council and advised that she was present to talk to the agenda and past agendas and voice her opinion. Ms. McBee stated that some weeks ago City Council authorized, but did not amend their budget, for $61,000 to be expended for the legislative override of METRO's general mobility program to ensure that Bellaire continued to receive money from METRO.

Ms. McBee advised that Baldwin Avenue started north of Beechnut and ended south of Bellaire Boulevard. The street did not add to mobility, but the City was spending multi-million dollars of METRO's money, taxpayer's money, to do that.

This evening, City Council wanted to expend $15,000 for economic development to hire someone to do something, all of which was not clear coming from Staff. Ms. McBee urged City Council to go the local universities and get assistance from interns to build the City a database of businesses the City claimed it did not know it had. This would save $15,000.

The one expenditure she happened to support as it was preplanned was the hiring of PGAL for the architectural services necessary to update the City's facilities program. She noted that the City's facilities needed attention and urged City Council to get their priorities straight.
