H. NEW BUSINESS:

1. PRESENTATION/RECOMMENDATION FROM THE CULTURAL ARTS BOARD OF THE CITY OF BELLAIRE, TEXAS:

PRESENTATION, RECOMMENDATION AND POSSIBLE ACTION related to a project submitted by the Cultural Arts Board of the City of Bellaire, Texas, with input and support from City Staff and the Bellaire Fire Department, for the development and placement of visual art at the front entrance of the Bellaire Fire Station located at 5101 Jessamine Street, Bellaire, Texas, said project of which was outlined in the 2008-2012 Arts Master Plan – Presentation by Representatives of the Cultural Arts Board of the City of Bellaire, Texas; Item submitted by Assistant City Manager Diane K. White on behalf of the Cultural Arts Board of the City of Bellaire, Texas.
INTRODUCTION:

Assistant City Manager Diane K. White advised that she became the Staff Liaison to the Cultural Arts Board of the City of Bellaire, Texas, in late spring. The item before City Council this evening was the result of an initiative included in the 2008-2012 Arts Master Plan, which was for the Cultural Arts Board to collaborate with the Bellaire Fire Department on an art project for the Bellaire Fire Station.

Assistant City Manager White advised that fire station art was considered and discussed by the Cultural Arts Board as an agenda item 23 times since January of 2011. During the initial discussions of the art project, Councilman Corbett Daniel Parker served as the Council Liaison to the Cultural Arts Board. The current Council Liaison was Councilman Roman F. Reed.

In the end, the Cultural Arts Board voted to submit a project for a bronze statue to be located between the two flag poles in front of the Bellaire Fire Station to City Council for consideration. The goal of the Cultural Arts Board this evening was to get City Council approval of the concept and location.

Assistant City Manager White indicated that the statue was not currently funded in the City's budget and that neither City Staff nor the Cultural Arts Board was seeking funding this evening.

Assistant City Manager White introduced the Chair of the Cultural Arts Board, Terry Leavitt-Chavez, as well as Board Member Gretchen Sparks, both of whom were present to answer questions. She then turned the floor over to Fire Chief Darryl Anderson, who was present to speak to the art project on behalf of Assistant Fire Chief Alton Moses and the Bellaire Fire Department.

Fire Chief Darryl Anderson indicated that the Bellaire Fire Department ("Department"), in concert with the Cultural Arts Board ("Board"), had developed an idea for art for the Fire Station that would satisfy many different requirements. For example, both the Department and Board were looking for a sense of community, heritage, family, honor, and faith, with a goal of capturing the essence and spirit of fire life.

Possible mediums that could be used for the recommended statue or sculpture included bronze, stone, cast iron, wood, or a mixture of materials.

Fire Chief Anderson cited the following neighboring communities with fire-related art: Texas City, Houston, Missouri City, and Sugar Land.
Each of those communities had determined that fire-related art was of value.

Local expressions that the Department and Board hoped to capture included the following:

- Sixty (60) years of firefighting service by one individual whose name or likeness would be used on the artwork;
- Honoring the City’s old Fire Station and those who had served as an employee or volunteer for the Bellaire Fire Department;
- Embracing changes in firefighting technology;
- Reflecting the ideals of the community;
- Inspiring future generations to serve in like capacities;
- Promoting awareness, education, and fire prevention; and
- Beautifying Bellaire.

Fire Chief Anderson provided an overview of art that currently existed in the Fire Station, which included a painting (donated in 1979 by Don and Shirley McDaniel). He turned the floor over to Board Member Gretchen Sparks.

Board Member Gretchen Sparks, Cultural Arts Board, stated that when she joined the Cultural Arts Board, she volunteered to take the Fire Station art project under her wing. In talking with the Department and Board, she personally felt very strongly that the art needed to be dedicated to an individual. The individual she had in mind originally was Nick Aring. Mr. Aring had served as a volunteer for the Department for over 50 years, and he represented what Ms. Sparks loved about Bellaire—a sense of community and family.

Ms. Sparks indicated that she envisioned either a full- or partial-sized bronze statue, with Mr. Aring serving as the inspiration. Although bronze was the most expensive material under consideration, it was also the most lasting.

Mayor Philip L. Nauert opened the floor for members of City Council to ask questions of the Department and/or Board regarding the recommended art project for the Fire Station.

Councilman Corbett Daniel Parker inquired as to whether other ideas had been presented and, if so, why such ideas were eliminated.
Ms. Sparks stated that some abstract art ideas had been discussed; however, after talking with the Department, the Board learned that the Department desired something more traditional. The Board agreed that a traditional piece of art would be the most respectful suggestion.

Mayor Nauert inquired as to whether the Board was considering commissioning a one-time creation for Bellaire or a copy of existing art.

Ms. Sparks indicated that ideally the Board would like to commission a one-time creation. It was noted that an existing design could be used that incorporated a likeness of Mr. Aring. Additionally, a partial-sized statue could be placed on a pedestal, thereby reducing the cost somewhat.

Councilman James P. Avioli, Sr., stated that Nick Aring’s service should certainly be recognized today, without waiting for a statue. He inquired as to the estimated cost of a statue and where the funds would come from.

Ms. Sparks advised that she had spoken with another cultural arts board that had just commissioned a similar type of project in North Texas. That board received bids ranging from $20,000 to $60,000. In her opinion, the maximum budget would be $60,000, which would consist of a life-sized bronze statue. She noted that other materials could be used, such as brushed aluminum or cast plaster. From what little she did know, those materials were not as long lasting and were maintenance intensive.

With respect to funds, the Board had discussed the possibility of seeking donations to compliment any City monies that might be budgeted for the project.

Councilman Avioli noted that City Council had been discussing beautification of the City as a whole. He indicated that he very much wanted to recognize Mr. Aring for his service, but was not sure he was ready to support the installation of a bronze statue in front of the Fire Station as he was not certain that it comported with the overall City beautification plan.

Councilman Parker referred to the origin of the statue and indicated that it was his understanding that the Department and Board had not started with a need to honor Mr. Aring.

Fire Chief Anderson stated that the Department was looking at a likeness of Mr. Aring. As far as going from a non-traditional design to a traditional design, the Department, when asked by the Board, indicated that a traditional design “hit their heartstrings.”
City Manager Bernard M. Satterwhite, Jr., indicated that the suggestion of art for the Fire Station came about when the Fire Station was initially under construction. The Board developed a four-year Arts Master Plan ("Plan"), which was subsequently submitted to City Council for approval. One of the initiatives in the Plan was Fire Station art.

Councilman Parker indicated that he understood that it was the will of the Firefighters' Association to have some type of art depicting the community's appreciation collectively of those who had served and continued to serve as firefighters for the City. Mr. Aring was later chosen to become the inspiration for the art. He inquired of Fire Chief Anderson as to whether he had made a fair assessment.

Fire Chief Anderson agreed that Councilman Parker's assessment was fair.

Councilman Roman F. Reed asked Board Chair Terry Leavitt-Chavez, an abstract artist and owner of an Art Gallery, if she felt that the proposed project would serve to beautify the City of Bellaire.

Chair Terry Leavitt-Chavez advised that she believed Bellaire was a very traditional City. Taking a traditional viewpoint with respect to the Fire Station art would be good for the City in her opinion.

Councilman Reed thanked Chair Leavitt-Chavez, Board Member Sparks, and all members of the Cultural Arts Board for their hard work on this project.

Councilman Pat B. McLaughlan also thanked the Cultural Arts Board for their contributions and for being present this evening. He noted that he was fire department-oriented after having served as a volunteer firefighter in the City of Bellaire for 20 years, a volunteer EMT in another community for 20 years, and a consultant to Fire Departments all across the country.

Councilman McLaughlan questioned why the Fire Station had been chosen for an art project rather than, for example, the Police Station, Public Works, or Finance.

As an alternate to the statue, Councilman McLaughlan referred to the good luck the City had with historical plinths, which were less expensive and could be directed to honor an individual. He indicated that he planned to support the project on the condition that the statue was a true likeness of Nick Aring. Councilman McLaughlan stated that he had known Mr. Aring for 30 years and had worked with him. He continued and advised that Mr. Aring was one of the most dedicated people in the Bellaire community and very deserving of an honor of some type.

For the record, Councilman McLaughlan advised that his support of the statue would be strictly on the basis that it would be honoring Nick Aring. If the cost did not work out, a plinth with a likeness of Mr. Aring and appropriate words would be very beneficial.

Mayor Nauert reminded members of City Council that they were being asked to approve the concept this evening and not the funding. The project would not move forward without further City Council attention and approval. The step this evening was an intermediary approval so that the Board could know whether to press on with the concept or not.

Councilman Andrew S. Friedberg advised that he did not wish to lose sight of what the project was about. It was an honor to Nick Aring to use him as the likeness for what the statue was trying to embody. It was not a statue of Mr. Aring. The much broader message was far beyond Mr. Aring himself and more about what he represented—a metaphor for something even bigger that would embody all of the City’s full-time fire staff as well.

It was entirely appropriate and beneficial for the Board to come to City Council this evening as it had to get City Council’s overall feedback before moving forward. Speaking for himself, Councilman Friedberg stated that he very much liked the project and was happy to lend his support. What did not quite work for him was that it was beyond the Board’s authority to seek funds without Council direction on that point. To get the project through to resolution on a subsequent presentation, he indicated that he would like to see more thought paid to what type of campaign was contemplated with respect to fundraising, what type of grants might be available, etc., so that City Council had some idea as to funding availability.

In closing, Councilman Friedberg thanked the Board for their contributions and stated that he thought the art project as proposed was a great idea.

Mayor Pro Tem Amanda B. Nathan advised that her thoughts were in line with the statements made by Mayor Nauert and Councilman Friedberg. She indicated that she wished to make a motion for City Council consideration.

CITY COUNCIL MAIN MOTION:
Mayor Pro Tem Amanda B. Nathan moved to accept the Bellaire Cultural Arts Board’s presentation and conceptual idea of a statue for the Fire Station art initiative, subject to future discussion regarding the specifics of the statue, and the possibility of and identification of a source or sources of funding. Mayor Philip L. Nauert seconded the motion.

Prior to discussion on the motion, Councilman McLaughlan indicated that he wished to make an amendment to the motion.

CITY COUNCIL AMENDMENT (NO. 1) TO MAIN MOTION:

Councilman Pat B. McLaughlan moved to amend the main motion that the statue bear a likeness of Nick Aring and that the statue specifically define Nick Aring’s contribution as a volunteer. Councilman Roman F. Reed seconded the amendment to the main motion.

Councilman Parker indicated that the project was not initiated as an honor to Nick Aring, although such an honor was deserved. He believed that the community should honor all of the firefighters that had collectively served Bellaire. While he had no problem with the idea of using Mr. Aring as inspiration, he did not wish to categorically state that he was not in support of it if the Department and Board decided there was a better direction.

Councilman Friedberg stated that he was not inclined to support the amendment because he believed it was already captured in the motion in the sense of what the Board had brought to Council for feedback. He did not see the need to further qualify it. He noted that Council would have opportunities in the future to tweak the project.

Mayor Nauert agreed with the comments made by Councilman Friedberg. He advised that conceptually he was excited by the project. He appreciated Councilman McLaughlan’s amendment, but felt that it was already handled within the motion.

Councilman McLaughlan advised that without a specific agreement regarding the relationship of the statue to Nick Aring, he would oppose the statue. He had a great concern that when cost got to be an issue, the City would drop back to some type of generic statue. He did not believe that would be in harmony with the City’s beautification effort and the quality of the City.

Mayor Pro Tem Nathan pointed out that the motion anticipated that the Board would come back to City Council to discuss the specifics of the statue so Councilman McLaughlan could, at that time, oppose it instead of having to oppose the very concept of it now.
Councilman McLaughlan agreed with Mayor Pro Tem Nathan.

Councilman Avioli clarified his position by advising that he was in support of Mr. Aring and felt he should be honored tomorrow with a plaque or something. He was not in support of the project at this time as he felt the concept should be part of the big overall City beautification plan. For that reason, he was not supporting the initiative.

Councilman Reed advised that he would fully support the project because it was part of the beautification of Bellaire and was a great way to get started on those beautification efforts.

CITY COUNCIL ACTION ON THE AMENDMENT (NO. 1) TO THE MAIN MOTION:

The amendment (no. 1) to the main motion failed on a 2-4-1 vote as follows:

Satterwhite, Jr., on behalf of The Nature Discovery Center, Inc.

INTRODUCTION:

City Manager Bernard M. Satterwhite, Jr., advised that the City had entered into Interlocal Agreements with Harris County in the past for the operation and maintenance of the Nature Discovery Center. The agreement before City Council this evening was the same version that had been used in previous years. Under the agreement, funds would be provided to the City by Harris County for deposit in a separate account to be transferred to the Nature Discovery Center. City Manager Satterwhite noted that the agreement had already been submitted to and approved by the Harris County Commissioners’ Court and was signed by Judge Ed Emmett.

Russ Pitman Park, 7112 Newcastle Drive, Bellaire, Texas. Councilman James P. Avioli, Sr., seconded the main motion.

Mayor Philip L. Nauert noted that, as stated by City Manager Satterwhite, the agreement before City Council was the same version as had been approved in previous years. One of the conditions in the agreement by Harris County was that, upon request, the City would place a sign in the park at a location and in a form to be approved by the County Commissioner for Precinct 3 that acknowledged the County's participation. Mayor Nauert asked if such a sign existed now or if a sign had been requested in the past.

City Manager Satterwhite indicated that a sign did not exist and had not been requested in the past.

Councilman Corbett Daniel Parker took an opportunity to thank Director Sarah Flournoy, who was present this evening on behalf of the Nature Discovery Center ("Center"), for her hard work and for reaching out and enriching the City's relationship with Harris County. He also thanked Bellaire residents Dr. Johnnie Frazier and Win Frazier for their support and work as tremendous Board Members for the Nature Discovery Center.
